

Some people say that computers are helping create a generation without social skills. What's your opinion?

and the advantages of shopping online? How far do you think that the